Please don't call me while they're still here- I'm honestly afraid of Anthony. Also, don't call them while they still have my stuff. The other team members are fine but I don't trust him not to trash all of my furniture on purpose out of spite. I'm assuming this is all going to cost me double what we estimated (not counting the floor damage) but the rudeness is the worst. I'm not sure reviews or complaints to DOT can convey the degree to which I feel threatened but I'll certainly try.
